Various Activities Conducted by 5 Guj BN NCC, Surat

World Yoga Day Celebration

- On June 21, Arts, Science and Commerce College, Kholwad, celebrated the International Day of Yoga, an ancient physical, mental, and spiritual practice that originated in India. As highlighted during the event, the word "Yoga" is derived from the Sanskrit word Yuj, meaning "to join" or "to unite" symbolizing the union of the body and consciousness. While many view it as a form of exercise, the college celebrated it as a holistic system designed to balance the mind and body.

Core Pillars of the Celebration

The celebration was structured around the Three Core Pillars of Yoga, which were demonstrated by the NCC cadets and faculty:

Asanas (Postures): Participants performed physical poses designed to improve flexibility, strength, and balance.

Pranayama (Breathing): The session included techniques to control the breath, helping participants regulate energy levels and calm the nervous system.

Dhyana (Meditation): The event concluded with the practice of mindful focus to achieve mental clarity and emotional stability.

Event Execution

Under the guidance of the NCC Unit (5 GUJ BN NCC) and the leadership of the Care Taker Officer, the college assembly hall became a space for collective wellness. Students from all departments, including those from the Scope Digital Language Lab, participated in the synchronized movements.

Impact

The celebration successfully reinforced that Yoga is more than physical movement—it is a tool for academic focus and personal discipline. By integrating the Three Core Pillars, the college staff and students experienced a renewed sense of "Unity and Discipline."

As an institution dedicated to holistic development, the college recognizes that "Green Value" are essential to building responsible citizens.

  The Core Values of Tree Plantation

  During the drive, the Care Taker Officer (CTO) and faculty members highlighted the following values to the participants:

  Environmental Stewardship: Understanding that we are the guardians of the Earth. Planting a tree is a selfless act that serves future generations.

  Balance and Harmony: Just as Yoga balances the body, trees balance the ecosystem by regulating oxygen levels, cooling the atmosphere, and providing a habitat for local biodiversity.

  Sustainability: Moving beyond the "act of planting" to the "commitment of nurturing." This fosters a value of long-term responsibility and patience.

  Social Responsibility: Recognizing that a cleaner, greener campus contributes to the health and well-being of the entire Kholwad and Kamrej community.
